counselors and librarians work to assist

Two "back-bone" structures at Maine South included the Library and Guidance Departments. Counselors were instrumental in helping pupils make the right decisions. This was not only in choosing next year's courses, but also with careers and planning for the future. The Career Resource Center aided all by providing helpful information concerning colleges and available jobs.

Library became a necessity for most students, who enjoyed the independent manner in which it was run. The "carrolls" allowed pupils to study on their own. The reserve room contained important information, while the "pit" was used for leisurely reading of magazines. The new audio-visual room allowed the viewing of television and films and provided an area for listening to tapes and records. Without a doubt, the Library and Guidance departments proved invaluable to South students.

new world for students

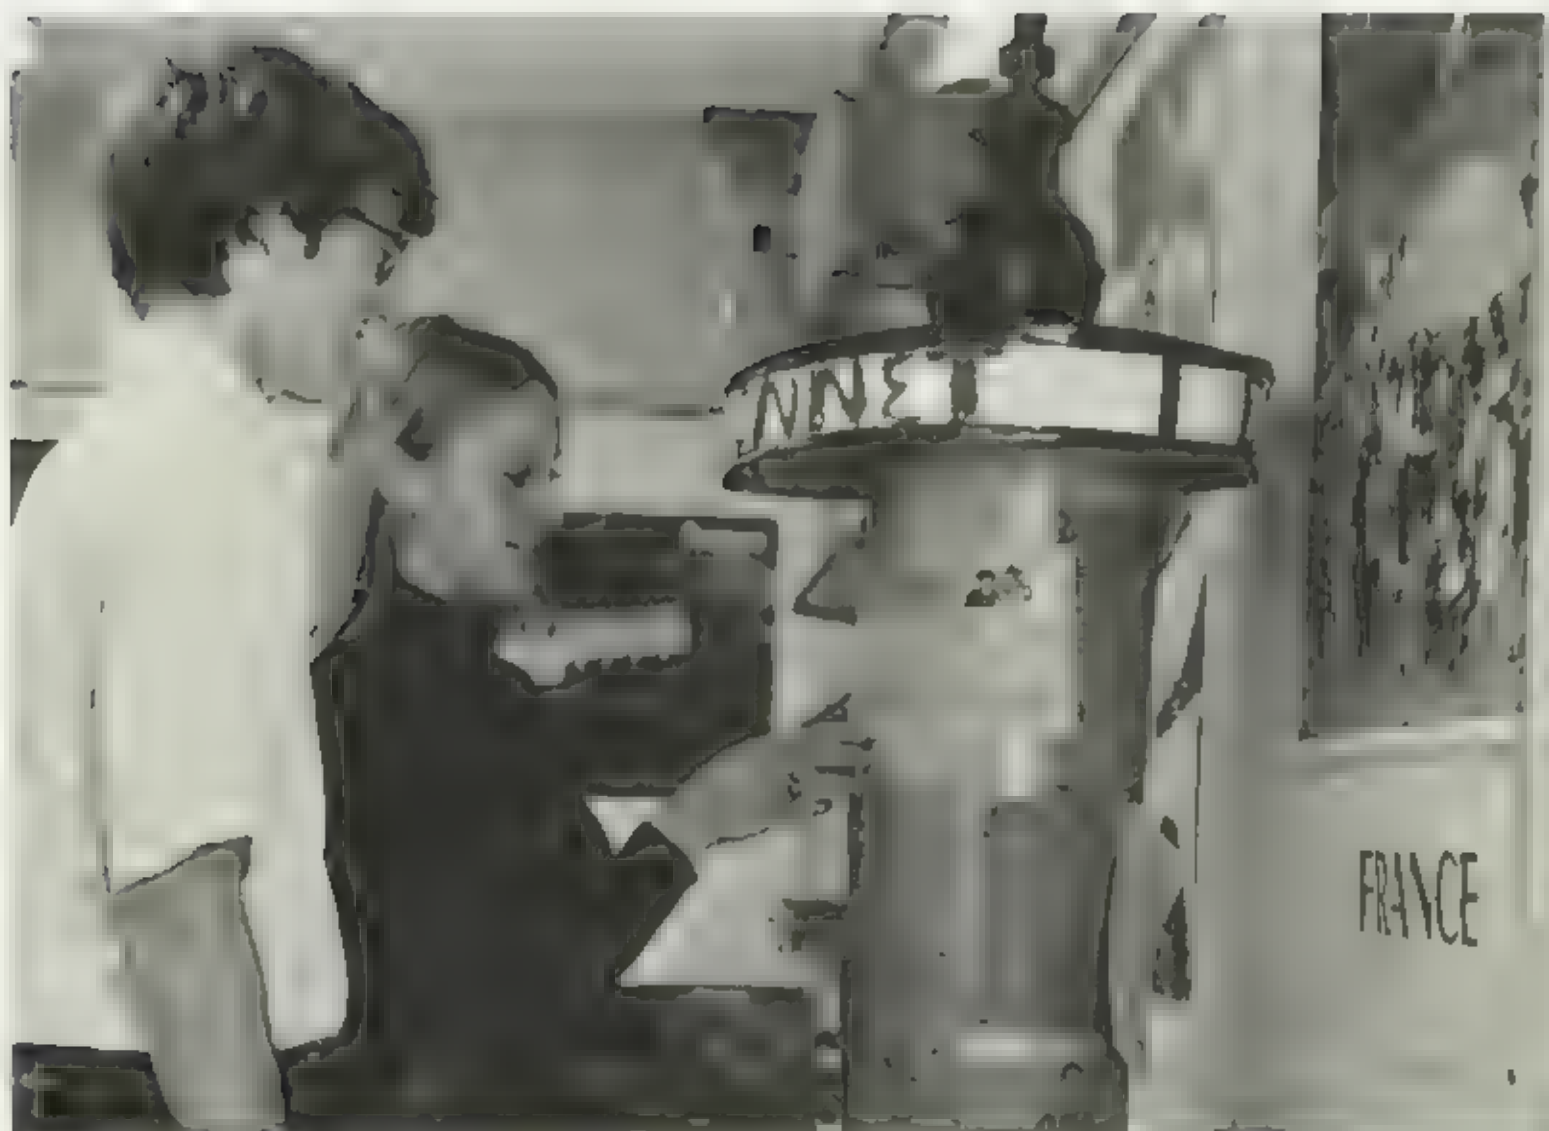

Elective English courses were quite successful again this year. Literature of Chicago, Art of the Film and Industrial English, a new class, were just a few of the more popular. Despite the success of an elective system, required classes were more beneficial for freshmen. Also, the accelerated program was better suited for gifted students. All in all, Maine South's English department stressed achievement and interest in its classes.

The speech and drama department also implemented a semester-based elective program. In addition to several courses in advanced drama and broadcasting, the department's two new staff members added to the creativity of the PA wing. Although the look was new, the speech and drama department kept up its fine reputation for turning out talented actors, broadcasters, speakers, and stage workers.

language uses additional cultural techniques

This year the Foreign Language Department offered a curriculum of Latin, German, Italian, French and Spanish. Communicating by reading, writing, speaking, and listening was a goal stressed in the classroom. Language lab provided an opportunity for students to enrich their communication skills on an individualized basis. Among the different teaching aids this year was a new text added to the French IV curriculum. The art of acting was displayed through the various productions, which included puppet shows as well as full-scale plays. Additional events, such as movies and guest speakers, also enabled pupils to gain cultural knowledge of their language.

boys' p.e. expands the elective program

The Boys' P.E. Department has been greatly expanded and unified this past year. The elective curriculum was continued for both the junior and senior boys. The freshmen and sophomore boys however still followed the basic class system which all boys had previously had. The elective system offered boys such fundamental courses as tennis, basketball, volleyball, football, track and gymnastics. Co-ed dancing added some sparkle to the average pupil's day. Also, popular courses such as water polo and crash conditioning maintained a large enrollment. All in all, through an excellent and dedicated teaching staff, these courses proved beneficial to students.

girls' physical education department adds variety

In the past year, the faculty of the Girls' Physical Education Department has strived for variety in their curriculum. Sophomores, juniors and seniors again enjoyed the successful selective program which included courses in dance, aquatics, gymnastics, and team and individual sports. Unique activities such as creative gymnastics, cross-country skiing, life saving, and skin and scuba diving were a few of the more popular.

Junior and Senior Leaders again provided invaluable service to the department. Freshmen were required to participate in a planned curriculum and can look forward to an elective program in the future. Without doubt, the Girls' Physical Education Department is eager to provide the girls at South with the most worthwhile and relevant curriculum possible.

math is an essential element of today's world

By making several additions to its program, the Mathematics Department improved its techniques this year. Lectures were added to the Math III curriculum. Also, a new course, Computer Science, was designed to teach interested pupils the basics of writing programs and running the school's computer. The Probability and Statistics classes, along with several different levels of algebra, geometry and trigonometry, were continued as part of the general program. College-bound pupils who have studied under these programs leave South with a well-rounded mathematical background.

describing are the important keys to science

Maine South's Science Department once again upheld its reputation of excellence. Fine teachers and enthusiastic students provided an interesting learning atmosphere. Since science is knowledge gained through experience, identifying, observing, describing, explaining, and investigating were stressed in the classroom. Courses in Biology, Earth Science, and Chemistry were very popular and offered at various levels. For gifted students, A.P. Chemistry and Biology and accelerated Physics were offered. New modes of learning, including lectures and team-teaching, were trialed by the teachers, thus creating an exciting and challenging year for all.

additions improve art and music courses

Students were able to express themselves through the many aspects of music courses offered this year. Both vocal and instrumental activities were included in the department. An addition to the curriculum this year was Guitar Magic, which used filmstrips as a method of teaching the guitar. A Madrigal Group, also new, performed minstrel songs during their concerts.

Artists also demonstrated their talents through the wide variety of classes offered. A new course, Advanced Photo Seminar, was created for interested students who had completed both Photo I and Photo II. Techniques in color printing was one major aspect emphasized. Another addition was a large mosaic mural at the Department entrance. Although the curriculum remained basically the same as last year, students eagerly participated in the various programs. Obviously, the creative students contributed to making this an entertaining and interesting year.

addition of two major courses improves the fine

This year, the Home Ec Dept. added two major courses to the fine assortment offered to Maine South students. A type of "men's lib" was formed, and as a result, Foods for Men was added to the curriculum. Also, a vocational course, Clothing Interior Design Occupations, allowed interested pupils to pursue their interests and earn money at the same time. In addition to this, a new mini-course, Creative Stitchery, aided students in perfecting their needlework skills. Although these new classes were enjoyed by many, the other Home Ec courses remained popular. All in all, students involved in the foods, clothing, and psychology courses found them interesting, informative, and a good preparation for future careers.

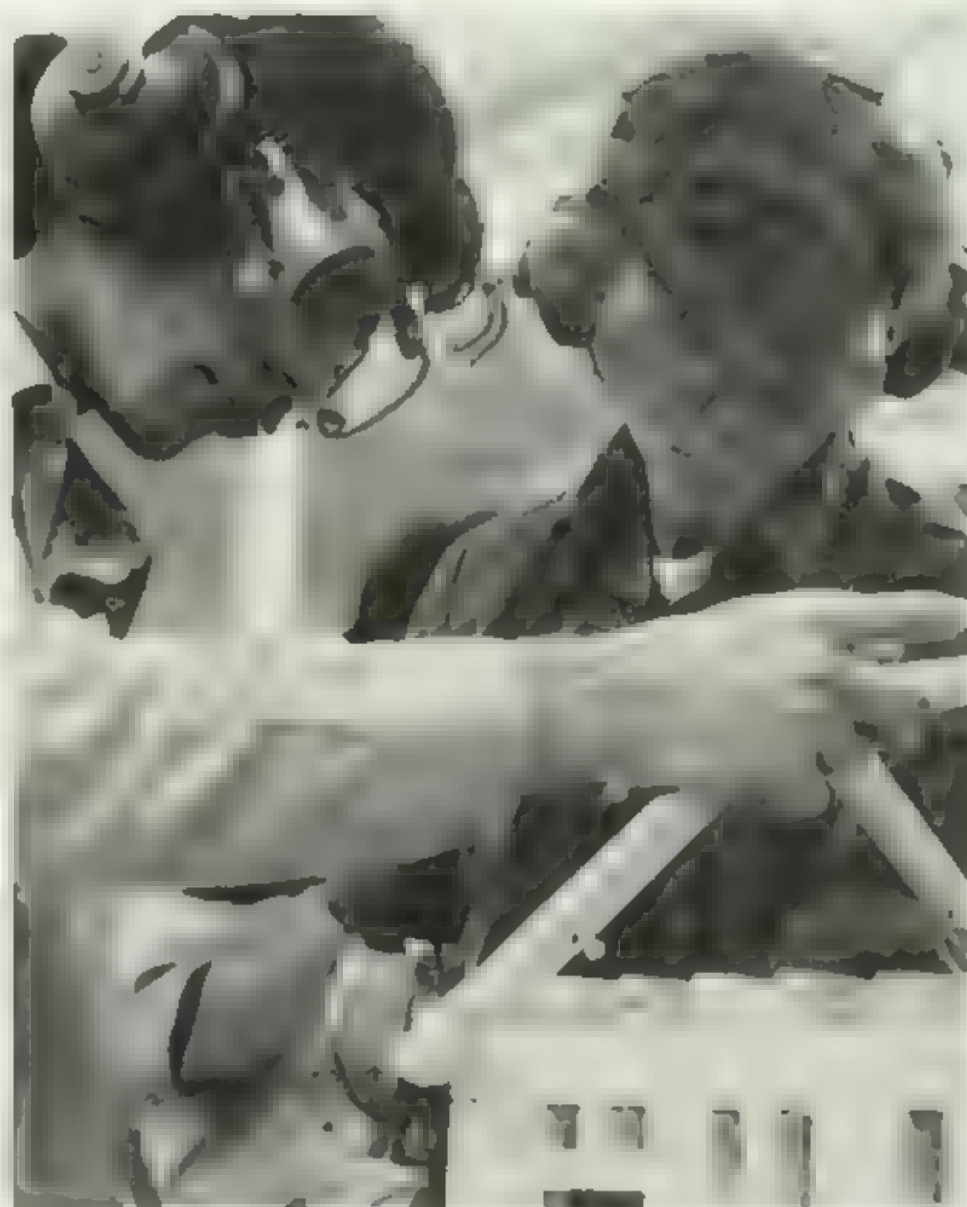

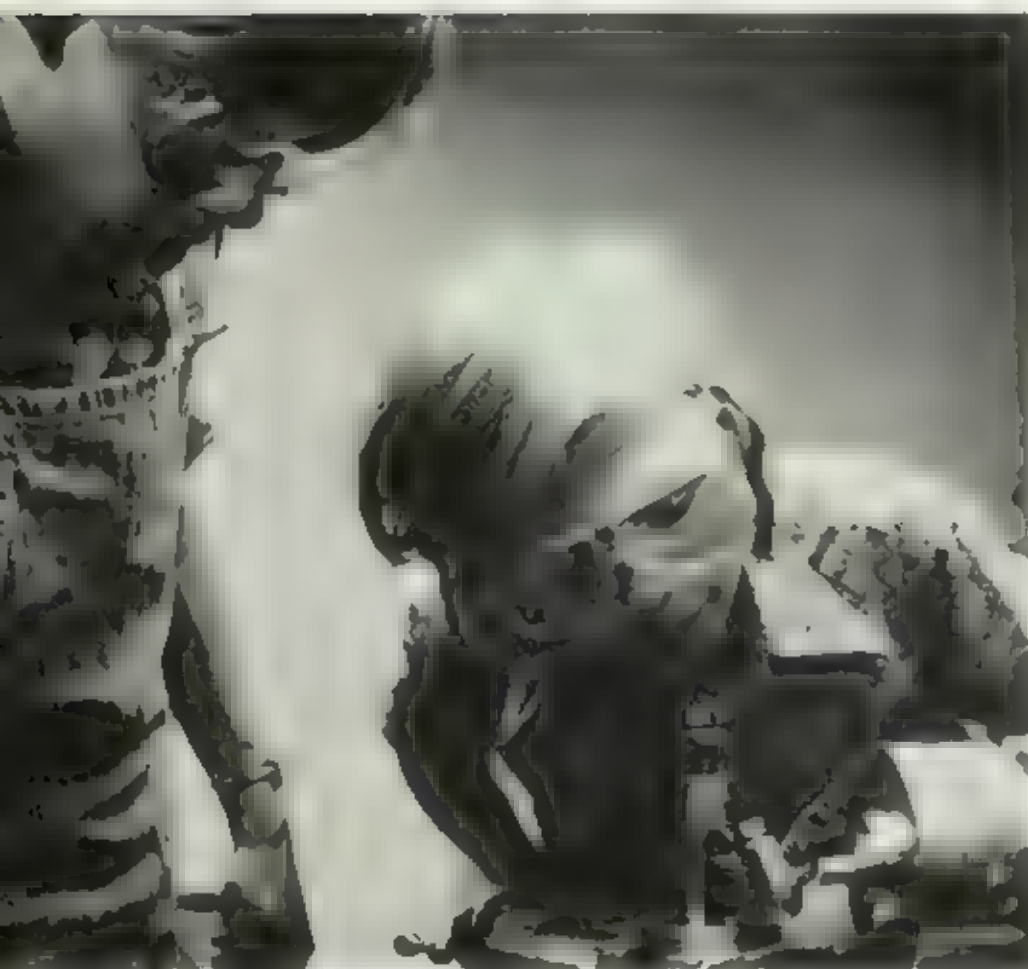

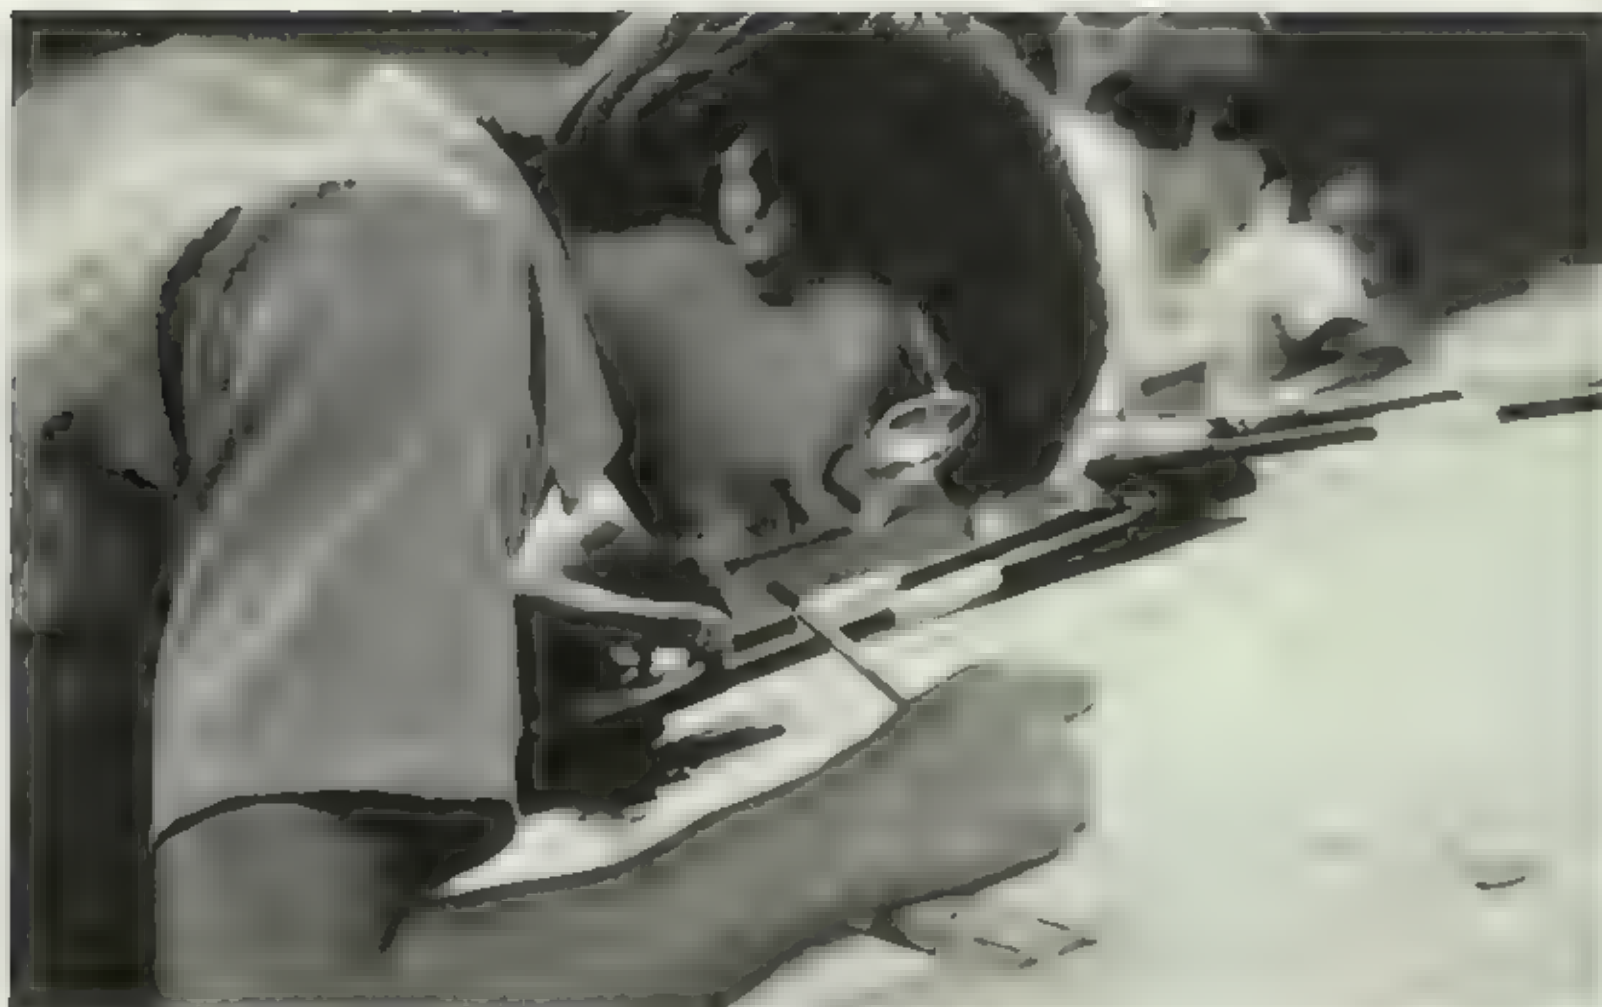

RIGHT: Kathy Holz, Debbie Gregg, and Kathy O'Brien enjoyed an addition to the Home Economics Department, Creative Stitchery, which involved the enrichment of skills including needlepoint, crocheting, knitting and sewing. BELOW: Seniors Loretta Priami and Renee Heick watched as their classmate Nancy Elbert displayed one of her many original and well-organized architectural classroom assignments.

This year the Industrial Ed Department managed to keep its fine reputation and expand its program. This department, which is designed to prepare students for vocations as well as to expand their practical knowledge, added a new EDM machine to the metals program. This machine was used to form metal by an electronic discharge. As in past years, the classes remained the same, and the building of miniature houses in the Woods II program was one of the most popular new projects of the 1974-75 school year.

maine south's business education classes prepare

With the decrease of job opportunities, business ed courses have become increasingly more important to the Maine South student. The typing, stenography, bookkeeping and accounting skills learned in the department proved to be necessary preparations for almost any job. Also the mandatory Consumer Ed course which was offered to sophomores taught students basic check writing techniques and the snares to be aware of in business deals. Indeed, the business ed staff prepared students for the job world. Above all, they taught them the basic forms of survival in the computerized world of the mid-1970's.

mandatory and elective courses stress safety

This year's Driver Education program continued to use the successful three-part teaching system. Behind-the-wheel driving experiences, classroom instruction, and filmed driving hazards in the simulator were the teaching techniques which proved beneficial to the new drivers. Although this class was optional, it was probably one of the most popular and well-attended courses at Maine South.

Health courses were also well-liked at Maine South; in fact, a new elective course, Health III, was added to the mandatory first and second year classes. As a whole, this course was a summary of drugs, mental health, and health problems relating to teenagers today.

Once again the Social Science Department offered a curriculum which included a variety of courses dealing with domestic as well as international affairs. The new UPI machine proved to be a rewarding addition to the department. Each day this computer related current worldwide news issues to students. As always, the department sponsored the field trips to Springfield and Galena; these visits broadened the students' knowledge of the state's history and enabled them to see the government in progress. Also, to increase the students' understanding of other people, the social science department initiated involvement in the National Conference of Christians and Jews. By interacting with teen-agers of different backgrounds, history students discovered the purpose of learning social science—to communicate with others by increased understanding of their culture

our homecoming parade is successful

One of the most enjoyable events of this year's Homecoming weekend was the Saturday morning parade. Our Maine South marching band and the Hawkettes performed excellently despite the freezing cold weather. The week was a busy and exciting one for all who participated in float building, but the hard work was forgotten as the finished products were presented. The freshman float, "Tip Toe Through the Trojans with Me," captured first prize with the Junior and Sophomore floats winning 2nd and 3rd place respectively. As a satisfying end to the afternoon, our Hawk gridgers beat the Niles East Trojans by a fine score of 17-0.

"foot ball" is fitting theme for homecoming '75

As usual, the highlight of the fall season was undoubtedly the annual Homecoming festivities. The spirit and enthusiasm added greatly to the success of the floats, game, pep rally, and the various other events. During the Homecoming assembly, Mark Keller from the Chicago Fire and the thirteen beautiful queen finalists were presented. "The Foot Ball," this year's Homecoming dance was successful due to the entertainment by the band, "Force of Habit." Although memories of Homecoming 1975 will be cherished by all, they will be best remembered by Polly Hubbell, who captured the dream of every girl — the title of Maine South Homecoming Queen.

arena play, dark of the moon, sets mood for the

The 1974-'75 arena play, Dark of the Moon, attracted a sizeable audience this past fall. The use of a unsetting arena or circular stage allowed the audience to view the play from one of three sides. Tragedy was the key word of this play, which was the story of a witch boy who fails to fulfill his dream of becoming a normal husband and father. The leading roles of the struggling warlock and his wife were realistically portrayed by John Vinopal and Sue Tortorella. Indeed, with the skill of student-director, Kim Fritz, a superb plot, excellent crew, and talented cast, the Maine South drama company was once again able to present a show of professional calibre.

actors prove that dramatic success is not found

During the warmer days of 1974, the Maine South Summer Drama Workshop presented several excellent productions. As a special addition to the course, Mr. T. Daniel taught workshop members the basics of pantomime or acting without words. Also, for the interest of young and old alike, two children's stories, The Wind in the Willows and Alice in Wonderland, were brought to life. Then, to top off a season of hard work, the musical, West Side Story, was brilliantly presented by past and present South students.

Several of these workshop members became involved in other drama productions; one of these was Readers' Theatre. Under the guidance of Mr. Granzky, this year's Readers' Theatre presented Lily Dan and the Three Ladies in competition against other high schools. Set somewhere in the south, the play was the story of an emotionally disturbed girl. Although scripts were used in place of costumes or scenery, the fine actors produced an exceptionally realistic play.

scrapbook exhibits wide variety of student talents

Scrapbook, this year's Variety Show, was a potpourri of memories and life's experiences. To set the mood for the show, narrator Nancy Moore encouraged the audience to look back and remember the funny, exciting or touching moments that had occurred in each of their own lives. Many acts revived memories of old television shows or comedy acts such as the 10:00 News, Who's On First?, and DaDaDaDa. Many other students were able to exhibit their fine musical talents in acts such as Killing Me Softly, Mountain Melody, Jesus is Just Alright With Me, and RYN. To sway from the ordinary, this year's show displayed the special talents of two students. Brian Yamakoshi showed his skill on a complicated Japanese instrument, and Dave Santee's figure skating performance was seen on film.

i remember mama conveys feeling of family love

A feeling of family love, warmth, and closeness was witnessed by the audiences who saw this year's all school play, I Remember Mama. The story evolved around the life of a Norwegian family who settled in America in the early 1900's. Even though they were poor, the family was able to survive because of the strong bonds of love between them. Playing to a full house almost every night, the play ran smoothly thanks to the combined efforts of cast and crew, along with student director, Cathy Walsh; stage manager, Dave Walker; and student technical director, Andra Larson.

cast and crew of oklahoma stress country flair

During the first two weekends in May, this year's musical, Oklahoma, upheld the fine record of past Maine South productions. Set in the farming west, the play centered around the obstacles of love between a farm girl (Karen Jacobsen and Laura Ogle) and Curly (Nick Straub and Mike Meyer). Although there were many happy instances in the story, tragedy occurred when a jealous handyman tried to murder the young couple by setting fire to the farm. As usual, the cast was superb in both vocal and dramatic areas; however, the original costumes, scenery, and technical effects added greatly to the authenticity and beauty of the show. Last, but not least, the talented dancers and orchestra topped off the country motif with popular songs such as "Surrey With the Fringe on Top."

PUBLICATIONS

southwords serves as major link in communication

The bi-monthly publication of Southwords informed students of the activities and events which occurred at South. The paper also served as a major form of communication between the administration and the student body. The process of compiling the paper itself consisted of planning page layouts, writing both headlines and stories, taking photographs, and continuous trips to the printers. On the other hand, a branch of Southwords, News Bureau, supplied the Park Ridge Advocate and Herald with student news. After the push to meet deadlines subsided, the staff was able to relax through participation in Scrapbook, the 1975 V-Show, or at the exciting Quill and Scroll dinner in May.

writing magazine plans for quarterly editions

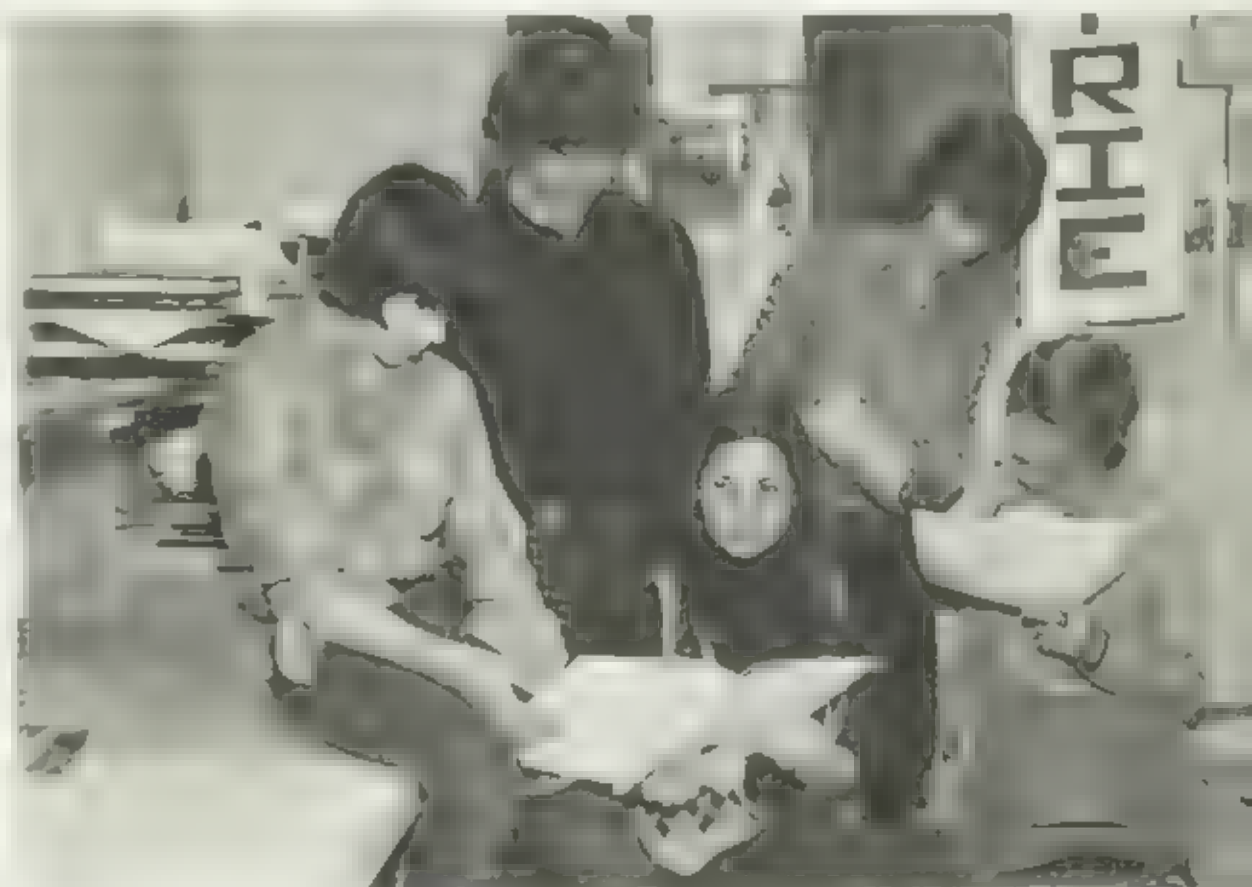

Inside Out was the title of this year's creative writing magazine. As a pot-pourri of students' creations, the magazine was representative of the outstanding writing abilities here at Maine South. To stimulate sales, the writing staff held a cover design contest and offered free concert tickets to two lucky subscribers. According to Mr. Ken Beatty, sponsor, this was the last year a single edition of the creative writing magazine would be published. From now on, quarterly editions will go on sale. In order to raise finances for these editions, magazine staff members held a candy sale in April.

1975 eyrie initiates changes in yearbook design

Under the direction of Miss Singer, members of the yearbook staff successfully compiled the 1975 Eyrie. Everyone from the Editor-in-Chief to the assistants constantly worked to meet the four deadlines. Writing copy, typing I.D.'s, sizing pictures, and planning lay-outs were just the start of the memory-filled book. Slightly different from the traditional, this year's annual featured a new style cover and the use of cartoons in the book. These additions emphasized the theme of "Styles of the 70's." Amid the businesslike atmosphere, however, were moments of fun. A night of roller skating, a spring picnic, and the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet rounded out the year by allowing staff members to balance work with pleasure and companionship.

student awareness is stressed in council

Under the guidance of Mr. J. Anderson, the fifty members of Student Council worked earnestly to improve the rights of all Maine South pupils. Due to the new meeting time of Wednesday and Friday during homeroom, upper-house meetings on Tuesdays, and a new Student Council office, a higher level of accomplishment and organization was obtained. Also, more awareness of council activities was created through the "Councilwords" column in Southwords, tours for freshmen during summer book sales, and the new Student Rights committee. In addition to the annual council involvement in V-Show, Homecoming, scholarships, and Busy Signal, the school phonebook, the 1974-'75 representatives were actively involved in projects such as the Styx Concert, A.F.S. Week, the paperback bookstore, and several attempts to improve conditions concerning the lounge, library, cafeteria, and even locker searches.

girls aid and participate in sports clubs

Students interested in athletics were given an opportunity to join a variety of sports-oriented clubs here at South. Members of the Riding Club were given several lessons that stressed skill and techniques and later presented a successful riding show. Two other organizations, Trackettes and Wrestlerettes, helped to score and assist in various ways at all meets and tournaments. Thus, the enthusiasm of South was demonstrated by these members.

members of athletic clubs teach and learn

Two popular athletic clubs at Maine South were the Ski Club and Swimming Timers. The Ski Club gave skiers and non-skiers alike the chance to improve their skill on the slopes. Trips were taken to Wilmot Mountain, Alpine Valley, Devil's Head, and Cascade Mountain. The Swimming Timers, Maine South guards, helped to time at both the boys' and girls' swim meets. Since all members were required to have Senior Life Saving, teaching swimming to younger students on Saturday mornings was also an activity of the club. Besides having fun, members of these clubs aided themselves and others.

social science clubs stress the unusual

Several Maine South clubs were supported by the Social Science department. One of these, the Local History Society, was open to any student interested in history, especially the development of the state of Illinois. This club met monthly for lectures, films, field trips, and special work projects. Their most successful event, however, was the annual volleyball night. At this time, students were able to challenge their favorite teacher to a match. Another informative organization was the Anthropological Society, which sponsored field trips to excavation sites in the area. Included in these excursion plans was a dig in Maine South's own football field, the former city dump. Without a doubt, these clubs provided many unusual and profitable experiences for all interested students.

language clubs stress cultural knowledge

This year the goal of the foreign language clubs was to increase classroom knowledge by discovering the cultures of various countries. A new Latin Club, started by Miss Fisher, taught students the background of a language which has no present culture. Members of the German and Spanish Clubs saw slides, planned traditional celebrations, and associated with guest speakers from other countries. Finally, Mrs. Stone's French Club started off the second semester with a culinary delight at Le Gourmet.

radio and chess club members display talents

During the '74-'75 school year, a strong interest was demonstrated by the members of the Radio and Chess Clubs. All students who are interested in ham radios joined W9GDC, the Maine South Radio Club. Others who enjoy the challenges of a mathematical game became members of the Chess Club. Both of these groups were able to express themselves and demonstrate talents with equipment not available during the regular schoolday. With the aid and guidance of their sponsors, Mr. Otto Kohler and Mr. Robert Hunt, members of these two clubs had a very fulfilling year.

students express ideas in creative ways

Hobbies and special interests provided an inspiration for three after-school activities at Maine South. The Photo Club sponsored its third annual photographic portfolio of student work. It contained black and white and multi-colored photographs. A silk screen portfolio was also produced. Once again, the Art and Photo Clubs sponsored the annual May Art Fair. On this day, the outstanding work of Art students was displayed around the outside of the building. CLID Club, a new club added to Maine South this year, helped students develop skills in clothing and interior design. All in all, these three clubs gave students the opportunity to express their ideas in both a creative and original way.

several clubs show service to the community

Many Maine South clubs sponsored various beneficial events during the past year. The Child Care Occupations Club prepared a Christmas party for children at an inner city day care center. Members of the Home Ec. Club, on the other hand, participated in a fund-raising sale and a service project for the community. In line with their interests, members of the Food Occupations Club sponsored a fall doughnut sale. Besides these activities, various field trips were taken by the club members, and to top off the year, each club held a successful spring banquet.

leadership stressed in special interest clubs

Several special interest Clubs were involved in various activities throughout the year. A once-a-month breakfast with guest speakers kept the Industrial Cooperation Ed. Club busy. Field trips, area, state, and national competition in marketing skills and leadership were some of the projects which involved the Distributive Education Club. The Cooperative Work Training Club also held several field trips throughout the year. Near the end of the school season, all three clubs sponsored banquets. Besides gaining experience and knowledge, members of these work programs learned about life in the business world of today.

vocational clubs are dedicated to the future

This year practical experience was stressed in three M.S. clubs. A main project for the Business Club was operating the concession stand in the foyer after school. Also, there was a special party for the children of faculty members before Christmas vacation. The Office Occupations Club had a very busy year with two special conferences to train students for leadership in an office. In addition to these, they held their annual Student-Employer Appreciation Banquet and participated in contests of various business skills. The main project of Medical Careers Club was again the selling of chocolate hearts from February 7th through 14th. The profits from this sale went for Easter baskets for children in the hospital. Obviously, preparation for today's competitive world was the key to these vocational clubs.

MUSIC

1974-'75 concert orchestra performs at u. of i.

Besides performing at several formal concerts, this year's Concert Orchestra entertained audiences at various special events. As usual, the musicians of this group demonstrated their talents at January graduation ceremonies, the spring Baccalaureate, and this year's musical, Oklahoma. The most exciting event for the orchestra, however, was a February 1st performance in Krannert Center at the University of Illinois. Along with the Concert Orchestra, two choral groups, the Treble Choir and Boys' Chorus did a fine job of representing the music department at various engagements including the Christmas Concert.

As always, this year's Concert Choir was made up of the talented students who had fulfilled the dream of each person involved in South's Choral department-membership in this highly respected group. One special treat for choir members this year was seeing themselves on WGN TV. Although this show had been taped in the fall, it was seen in Chicagoland on Christmas Day. Girl's Glee contributed to another Yuletide activity. Their melodious voices could be heard throughout the halls during this festive season band performs throughout the midwest

During the past year, members of the Maine South Concert Band demonstrated the talents which many years of practice had developed. At the same time, members of the Girls' Chorus were busy developing the fine voices which blended in harmony at various formal concerts. Throughout the first semester, band members learned new techniques from student teacher, Mr. Ramelli, who played a large part in the success of the band's V-Show performance. Although only select members were able to provide background music for the show, the entire band surprised the audience by performing Seventy-Six Trombones during the final act. Besides this performance, the band played at all home football and basketball games, the Civic Center, the University of Wisconsin, Band-o-Rama, and various formal and pop concerts which were held frequently throughout the 1974-75 school year.

HONORS

top-ranking students help build honor society

This year, membership in the Maine South National Honor Society was especially competitive. To be eligible, juniors were required to be in the upper 5% of their class, while seniors had to hold an average of B or above. Students who met these academic requirements were then judged on character, service, and leadership by the faculty. In order to qualify, a student had to receive a majority vote on the above categories and have been voted on by at least four faculty members who knew him well. Thus, only the most deserving students received the honor of this recognition.

able students compete for high honors

This year, Maine South was again able to recognize many outstanding scholars in various ways. For the eleventh consecutive year, several fine students proudly represented Maine South on the It's Academic team. In addition to that, students with fine academic abilities were named as National Merit Semi-Finalists. Other students who scored well on a qualifying test were awarded National Merit Letters of Commendation. This year's National Conference of Teachers of English Award was given to Alan Robandt. As the winner of this award, Alan expressed a great degree of skill in English composition. All in all, qualified students deserved the attention that these societies offered them.

Honorary societies recognized students who actively participated in activities on an extra-curricular basis, as well as maintaining consistently fine academic standards. The National Forensic League honored those debaters and contest speakers who had accumulated a total of twenty points by competing in numerous tournaments throughout the year. Students who made notable contributions as staff members of Exile and Southwinds were elected into the Quill and Scroll Society. Also, National Thespian Society consisted of students honored for their achievements as cast or crew members in various drama productions. notable achievements are recognized by students

Once again, our students elected three boys and three girls from each class into Brotherhood Society on the basis of leadership, friendliness and the promotion of school spirit. Another honorary, M-Club, initiated athletes who had earned varsity letters. One M-Club highlight was the performance of the Hackettes, a male pom-pom squad, at the M-Club and faculty game. Also, the A.F.S. supported Susanne Olsson from Sweden and senior, Alan Rohandt, who spent the summer in Italy.

marlins' search shows beauty of swimming

After try-outs involving stroking ability and performance of various aquatic figures, new members of the 1975 Marlin Swim Club were selected. Having obtained membership in the club, girls were placed in sets according to their skill. Then, following weeks of vigorous practice under the direction of Miss Butler, the swim show, Search, was presented in mid-April and performed at the Midwest Aquatic Art Festival in May. Melinda Dickerson received the Outstanding Marlin Award for 1975.

hawkettes entertain university audiences

During the 1974-'75 athletic season, members of the Maine South pom-pom squad, the Hawkettes, provided half-time entertainment for all basketball and football fans. Besides these regular performances, members of the squad appeared in their annual V-Show act, Choo-Choo. Then, under the direction of Miss Bohrich, this talented dancing group rounded out the year by performing at the University of Wisconsin in Whitewater, De Paul, the Chicago Civic Center and nearby Northwestern University in Evanston.

orchesis dancers perform "country roads"

The Orchesis dance club, besides performing their annual V Show act entitled "Country Roads," presented a show of their own in February. Further activities included workshops with various other schools. The purpose of these was to exchange ideas and movement patterns with other dancers. The routines were then performed by these fine dancers who were chosen at tryouts in both September and January.

south's cheerleaders support our athletes

After several days of workouts, the cheerleaders for this year were selected. The four talented squads worked hard to reflect the enthusiasm and spirit of Maine South. Through the fall, winter and spring seasons, these thirty-two girls cheered our teams on to victory. Under the direction of Miss Goff and Mrs. Sellers, the cheerleaders spent many long Tuesday and Thursday afternoons perfecting their routines. Their tiresome work and determination proved to be worth the time spent, for the teams and students alike appreciated this dedication. Undoubtedly, the key to their success was the originality, style, and enthusiasm of each and every cheerleader.

pep council sponsors spirit and sports week

Pep Club Council had a special function at Maine South. It generated spirit and enthusiasm in the student body. The evening before the Homecoming game, the club held a Pep Rally. This was the first time for this activity, and certainly it will be done again. November's Spirit and Sports Week, revived by this year's Pep Council, gave the student body an opportunity to vote on everything from "Cutest Baby Coach" to "Spirit Queen." The parents of our athletes were also allowed to participate when the Pep Club planned a get together for the basketball players' families. Naturally, the club had several social events of their own. For instance, they went caroling at a nearby old people's home in December, put up locker tags before each game, and even decorated the homes of football and basketball players.

wmth broadcasts shows to delight all tastes

This year WMTH, 88.5, programmed music, news, sports, and talk shows for nearly six hours daily from October 7th through May 20th. Every Thursday South's branch of 88.5 presented Twin 8 Survey, a show which featured the top tunes of the day. Also, Current Comment presented an interview with well-known personalities; Bob Sirott, WLS disc jockey, was just one of the many people featured on this show. In addition to broadcasting football and basketball games, a four-hour Christmas Special and a Monday morning sports report were presented by members of the radio staff. By presenting all these informative programs, WMTH proved to be a true service to the community.

Two competitive speech groups, Contest Speakers and Debate, both had successful seasons this past year. Under the direction of Mr. Wagoner and Mr. Granzky, the Contest Speakers captured many top awards at the Saturday contests. Poetry, dramatic reading and duet acting were just a few of the events which students participated in at the surrounding high schools. Also earning high honors was our fine debate team. For the past three years, Mr. LaVelle's team advanced downstate for the Ill. High School Association state finals. As always, debate was a very difficult activity to participate in, but many dedicated students worked hard to maintain South's fine reputation.

ATHLETICS

varsity football team continues to demonstrate

The varsity squad had its best recent season this past year. The previous lettermen-led squad led by co-captains Joe Crosby, Brian Goff, and M.V.P. Mike Sclergren, remained in contention for the divisional title until the end of the season. With a 3-2 record in the conference, the team finished in a tie for 2nd in their division. Their overall record was 5-3, and the team's success was mainly due to a united effort. Next year the varsity should continue its gradual improvement. Key returning junior lettermen and the addition of the unbeaten sophomores should give them a shot at the title.

cross country team places 2nd at addison trail

Because of hard individual work, the cross country team placed respectably in major non-conference meets. Despite their 5th place conference finish, the team finished 2nd in the important Addison Trail Invitational. Before bowing out of competition, they qualified for the state sectionals, with a 4th place in the district. Individually, the team was dominated by non-senior talent. Of the top seven runners, four were either juniors or sophomores. Of these seven, sophomores Steve Sens, the team captain, and Tim McNamara, M.V.P., were the most consistent and the runners to look for during the 75-76 season.

varsity soccer team finishes in 2nd place

The varsity soccer team, under coach Tilley, had a winning season with a fantastic 10-1-2 record. They earned a second place finish in their division after a close championship game which ended in overtime. All conference MVP and co-captain, Marshall Austin and co-captain John Daniel were the major factors in the team attack. There seems to be a good outlook for next year with nine returning lettermen and some upcoming sophomores who finished with a fine record of 13 wins, 1 loss, and 3 ties.

a switch from tradition aids south's golfers

This year the traditional golf season was moved from the spring to the fall. As a result of much individual summer practice, many varsity records were broken or tied. M.V.P. Ray Becker's 34 in a meet against Maine North was the lowest score ever for a South golfer in an away meet. Also, for the first time, the team was able to defeat every conference team at least once. On an individual basis, Ray Becker was on top with an average of 39 per nine holes. Other achievements were his 3rd and Theobald's 8th place finishes in conference meets. Without a doubt, this was by far the most successful season for the Maine South golf team in the past six or seven years.

our hawks are 'basketball team of the week'

Under the fine direction of new head coach, Mr. Sullins, the varsity basketball team finished in a tie for first in the conference. Before losing to Waukegan in super-sectionals, the Hawks had suffered only three losses. Perhaps the two biggest victories for the Hawks were the defeat of the 1974 State Champs, Proviso East, and a double-overtime regional against Evanston. With the help of M.V.P. Boesen and captain Pagone, the Hawks added conference, regional, sectional, and WLS Team of the Week trophies to South's collection.

This year's fencing program ran into a combination of good and bad luck. Although their 8-6 record was not as good as in the past, the team fenced well enough to take 4th place downstate and 2nd in the conference. Leading the way through the season and downstate was M.V.P. Andy Bonk, who took 4th in the state meet. Taking 11th downstate was captain Eric Priest. With all the team members being non-seniors, next season could well bring a state championship. Other fencers to look for in the future include Franke, Carlson, Thorsen and Kopach.

several gymnasts enter in downstate competition

Varsity gymnastics, though not up to expectations, still broke existing team and individual records. By scoring 135 as a team, the gymnasts surpassed the old record of 130.5. Individually, Craig Martin set a new record for the highest individual score by earning an 8.8 on the parallel bars. During the season, important gymnasts were: the LoBue brothers in free ex., Mike Ericksen and Nick Straub on the parallel bars, state qualifier John Davis on the still rings, state qualifier Bob LeMay on the side horse, Charlie Haapala and Brad Claire on the trampoline, and versatile Craig Martin, South's 3rd state representative and team M.V.P. varsity wrestlers defeat two of the top teams Outstanding describes some of the individual performances of the varsity wrestlers. Members such as Kurt Fiech, John Carroll, M.V.P. Bob Mikos, and Jim Cox all had excellent records. The team also showed great skill by defeating two of the conference's top teams, including Maine West. At the end of the season, the varsity was in 3rd place in the division with a 5-4-1 record. Qualifying for the state sectionals were Fiech, Mikos, Cox, Carroll, and Brian Gill. Of these men, Carroll finished in 3rd place. Overall, the season was successful due to the hard work of both individuals and the team.

the varsity swim team is plagued by injuries

Although the varsity swim team suffered numerous injuries throughout the season, they still managed to come up with a satisfactory record. Coached by Mr. A. Johnson, the swimmers finished 2nd in the division, 9th in the conference, and 4th in the district. An auto accident caused the loss of two important swimmers, Don Wilhelm and Paul Okamoto, who fortunately were able to return in time for some important meets near the end of the season. The two co-captains, John Andrew and Ken Banks, showed excellent skill throughout the season, and Ken even represented South in the state finals.

varsity track team finishes with a strong season

Coming up with one of their best indoor seasons, the varsity track team finished with second place in the division and fifth in the conference. The final record was undefeated. During the season, excellent performances by Mark Sellergren, Duke Vogel, Kevin Durack, Art VanderHeyden, and the mile relay team contributed greatly to the strong outcome of the team. Others doing well at conference meets included Tom Hermes and Eric Anderson in the hurdles, Bill Grupp in the 440, and Randy Niese in the 880. This year's team was very successful due to the excellent performances of the men, and everyone is looking forward to next year and another winning season.

In 1974, the baseball team captured the Central Suburban Conference title with a record of 13-3. Finishing 16-6 overall, they then continued to place 2nd in the districts. The MVP of the team was D. Patterson, while the tri-captains were K. Zdeb, T. Comyn and D. Patterson. This season, the team had seven returning regulars and hoped to repeat the fine showing of 1974. Keying the team were B. Flanagan, 2nd base, J. Pagone 3rd base, B. Horn catcher, M. Selligren, P. Morrison and J. McNamara in left, center and right fields respectively, and J. Klippstein, one of the many fine pitchers. With all the previous experience and ability, this proved to be a very exciting season.

varsity tennis team closes with excellent record

The 1974 Varsity Tennis Team, basically composed of sophomores and juniors, did quite well, finishing with an 11-6 record. The team finished sixth in their very strong conference with 7 wins and 4 losses. Then, they went on to take 1st place in the districts and 19th in the state. At the districts, the doubles finals involved two South teams. Bob Lee and Don Kopach defeated Doug Bergeson and Mike Kopach. Another highlight of the season was the title South took at its own invitational. Lee was honored as MVP and captain. This spring, both Kopachs, Bergeson, John Rortvedt, and Lee demonstrated improvements and showed the potential of having another of their great seasons.

underclass football squads have 'ups and downs'

This year, Maine South's non-varsity football program had its ups and downs. Coach Ziemek's frosh A team finished with a 2-1-4 record. Important players for the "A" team were M.V.P. Steve Mikos and co-captains Richard Pluta and Dave Ryan. On the "B" level, M.V.P. Bob Havlir and co-captains Mike Styczen and Rich Szatkowski led the men to a 1-3 record. The sophomores had a great season, finishing 1st in the conference with an excellent 8-0 record. Top players were Tom Garcia, Bill Tornrose and Chris Daniels.

cross country team does well in invitationals

As the varsity, the frosh-soph cross country team had a good season. At the Addison Trail Invitational, the sophomores finished first; the freshmen, 3rd at St. Patrick's and 4th at Niles West. In conference, the sophomores placed 7th with a 6-4 record while the freshmen finished third with a 9-1 record. This season, the Most Valuable Player and Captain were Jim McNamara and Tom Rortvedt respectively. Freshmen, Joe Bogard and Mark Borgmann will form the nucleus of a strong frosh-soph squad.

Undefeated in conference marked the 1975 season for the sophomore soccer team. Led by captain Wally Erickson and M.V.P. Jim Krumwiede, the team finished with a 13-1-3 overall record. Under the fine coaching of Mr. Higgins, the team led the conference in scoring and defense, allowing only six goals in 17 games. Also a fine underclass group, the freshman team, coached by Mr. Piana, finished with an 8-3 record. The team worked well as a group, but there were many top individuals. Playing an important role on the team defense was M.V.P. Ken Borowski, while captain Randy Iatesta keyed the Hawk forward line.

basketball squads 'pick up' to improve records

In underclass basketball, the Frosh B team lost their first six games, but recovered to win seven of their last eight matches. Leading this surge were M.V.P. E. Swanson and captain A. Spicer. The "A" team also started slowly, being 5-7 at one point. They, too, recovered well, winning six of their last seven games. Leading this squad were M.V.P. C. Areen and co-captains C. Tobin and M. Lottich. Meanwhile, the sophomores had many tense games, including the Elk Grove Tournament. Led by M.V.P. Rick Smith and captain Paul Preston, they lost this game by one point, thus taking 2nd place. Another highlight was the defeat of the 20-1 Proviso East powerhouse. Finally, the J.V. squad showed promise by leading their conference with a 13-1 tab.

frosh-soph fencing team on their way to top

Under the direction of Mr. John Doherty, the freshman-sophomore fencing team had a magnificent season. With a record of 11 and 3 overall and 10 and 2 in the conference, the team ended up in a tie for first place. Then in the conference meet, John Meuret, Most Valuable Player for this tournament, and Mark Snow, Most Valuable for the season, compiled the two best individual scores. This meet indeed topped off the season for this year's team. Next year is promising, with several good freshmen, Captain Nick Leever, Ed Kaihatsu, John Meuret, and Joe Matsuoaka returning to form the backbone of another strong team

underclass gymnasts put out their best efforts

Underclass gymnastics suffered through a combination of bad luck and lack of participants. The Freshmen, for example, were only able to field a team of seven members; nevertheless, these seven went out and exerted their best efforts. Unfortunately, this was not enough to avoid a 1-10 slate. Edward Krejcie was named M.V.P., while Tom Ellwood was named captain. The Sophs, though not under-manned, lost three meets by less than one point. Thus, their 5-8 record was not representative of their true performance. Doing respectable work for the team were M.V.P. Randy Young, captain Scott Kimbrel, Brian Ruxton, John Swanson, and Tom Fritz.

the freshman wrestlers are conference co-champs

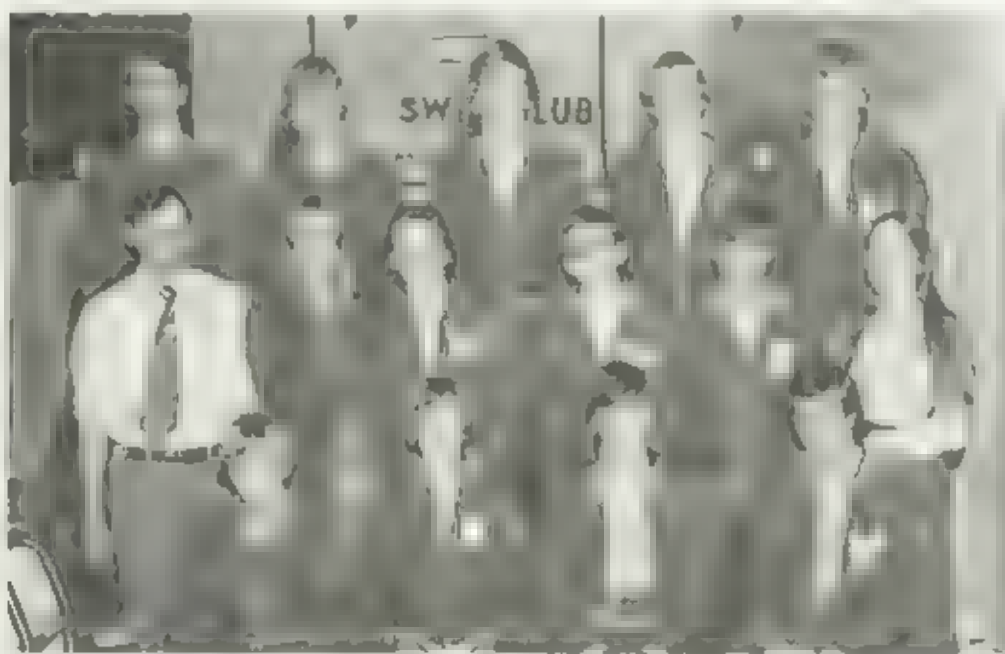

The non-varsity wrestling teams did quite well last winter. The frosh team finished with a 9-1 record to take 1st in the division and become co-conference champs. The sophomores didn't do quite as well, but they finished with an overall 7-8 record. The J.V.'s, on the other hand, ended the season with a fine 13-1 record. Thanks to the M.V.P.'s, Steve Mikos, John Dorman, and Sean Carroll, the outlook for next year's varsity and soph teams is bright.

a shortage of swimmers hurts the teams

Although the freshman and sophomore swim teams finished tied for 1st and 3rd in the division, a shortage of boys hurt the teams this year. It was only thanks to the hard work of the talented boys on the squads that the swimmers did as well as they did. Most valuable for the teams were freshman co-captains, Jason Tioris and Leo Frystak, and sophomore co-captains, Ken Rhode and Glen Guericio. Another swimmer of special note was freshman, Wayne Madsen, who swam on the varsity team and contributed to the success of the squads.

hawk trackmen show great potential

The Hawk underclass indoor trackmen were very successful this year. The winning sophomore team was led by Steve Senf, who set a conference record in the two mile and Kurt Irelan in the 880 and mile relay teams. The Hawks, who finished third in the divisional, put forth a great effort to win the conference. The freshmen also did well this season. They took fourth in the conference winning the 880 and mile relays. As evident from these teams, the Hawk trackmen have great potential in future years.

south underclass golfers tee-off to a fine start

With a 9-5 record, the frosh-soph golf team finished in 5th place in the conference. Although two of the top team golfers, Mark Stiggelman and Jeff Theobald, were on the varsity for most of the season, the underclass golfers did quite well. Theobald was named M.V.P. by his teammates, and Ken Latos was selected to the important position of captain. All in all, if the members practice hard over the summer, the 1975-'76 season should be an excellent one for underclass golfers.

frosh-soph tennis team racks up another season

The frosh-soph tennis team of last year began the season with high hopes that were soon deflated. Being often outmatched, they won only four meets. But, the team was able to take 2nd place in the Elk Grove Invitational. Erik Lund, 1974 captain and Most Valuable Player, won the singles championship at Elk Grove. Two other contributing sophomores were Joe Hester and David Onderdonk. This season, Coach Lange counted on a strong group of incoming freshmen and last year's returning freshmen including Ray Emerick, Jim Melia, and John Thomas. Along with the other members of the team, a truly successful season was expected for 1975, with a good chance to finish high in their conference.

no "bunts" about it, underclassmen do well

Last spring, the underclass baseball teams all did very well. The sophomore team, led by M.V.P. Gaydon Brandt, finished high in their conference with a 13-3 record. The Frosh "A," meanwhile, also did well, finishing with 12 wins and 5 losses. Keying the "A" team were Jon Walley, the M.V.P. and Rick Smith, captain. Finally, the "B" team, led by M.V.P. Bret Hartmann and co-captains Mark Pabich and Scott Limper, were 1st with a conference record of 12-2 and an overall record of 14-3.

GIRLS SPORTS

junior and senior leaders learn by experience

Leadership is developed effectively in young people through the medium of physical activity and recreation. The leadership program in the Girls' Physical Education Department provided this unique opportunity for selected junior and senior girls. In addition to aiding in physical education classes, the leaders were quite active in the after-school program. As juniors, the girls learned leadership and various coaching techniques. As seniors, the leaders assisted the physical education teachers in conducting beneficial gym classes. Indeed, everyone truly appreciated the dedication and able assistance provided by South's leaders.

sponsors activities for all south's girls

Although interest in our Girls' Interscholastic teams grew tremendously this year, Girls' Intramural and class competition remained as popular as ever. Class basketball was a means by which talented girls, not on the Interscholastic team, could enjoy and compete in tournament play. Our Girls' Recreational Association sponsored this program as well as many playnights and their big project for this year, the sleep over. All of these well-planned activities proved to be, without a doubt, a great success.

intramurals: enjoyment and a form of competition

Among their other activities, G.R.A. sponsored many intramural sports. Teams competed in basketball and volleyball, while individuals participated in gymnastics and golf. Although these sports required no previous experience, an eagerness to play and learn was necessary. Special skills and techniques were taught, and time was allowed for playing. Another advantage of this was the opportunity to meet new people. Girls benefited in many ways from these various intramural sports.

swimmers prepare for girls' state championship

Two outstanding girls' teams this year were tennis and swimming. The swim team finished its season with a record of ten wins and no losses, taking first place in both conference and a state invitational meet. Next year's team will be working hard to prepare for Illinois' first girls' state swimming championship. Both tennis teams played well this year. The varsity finished third in their division, and J.V. came in first place. All members of these teams showed superior skills and techniques while competing with other schools. The future outlook for these teams is favorable due to the experience and cooperation of all.

the girls' teams continue to show improvement

Three of the girls' most hardworking interscholastic athletic teams were the basketball, volleyball, and gymnastic squads. The gymnasts had a much better season than last year, showing their skill in both optional and compulsory meets. In the same line, the volleyball team had their most successful season ever, finishing 1st in the district and advancing to sectional competition in Barrington. Last, but not least, the badminton team continued the fine girls' record by defeating almost all teams they met.

several star players to college

Three Maine South girls' teams finished with fine records, but lost several key players to college. The track team, for example, tied for 2nd place in the 1973-74 State Tournament. Also, the mile relay team set a national interscholastic record with a time of 4:07.2. In the same line, the 1974-75 basketball team ended with an undefeated record and a 1st place in conference. Finally, the 1973-74 softball team had an average season, but looked forward to an even finer record with many new faces on the 1975 team.

ADMINISTRATION

top administrators maintain high standards

Maintaining superior academic standards was the goal of Dr. Short, Superintendent of Maine Township. Dr. Meyers and Dr. Benka, assistants to the Superintendent, coordinated curricular activities for the district. With the help of assistant principals, Mr. Barker and Mr. Simonson, South's own principal — Dr. Watson directed his efforts toward maintaining "the number one school in the nation."

better communication is stressed by deans

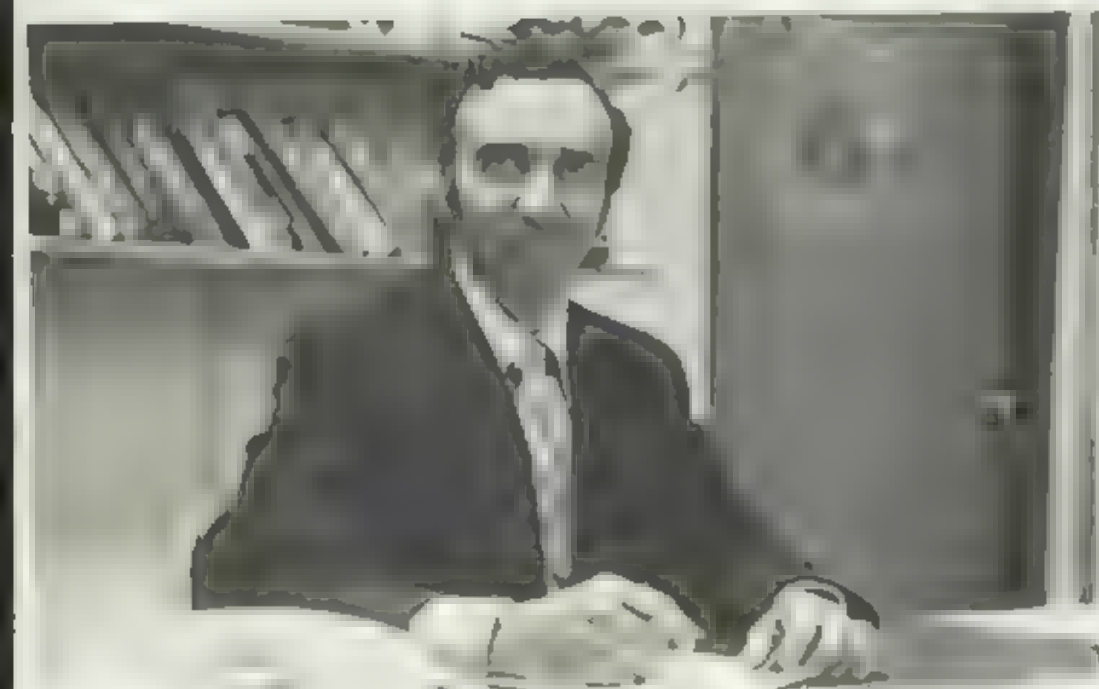

Throughout the past months, the Maine South administrators proved to be an excellent and efficient staff. The goal of this group was to continually strive for new and better methods of organization and education. Members of the Executive Committee and Administrative Council cooperated with the students and administrative board to express new ideas and policies for the betterment of pupils. Once again, Mr. Harold Markworth successfully managed all of South's finances. Also, our deans

Mr. Smith, Mr. Bitta, and Miss Hiff effectively worked with students to establish better understanding and cooperation in the educational system. As a final result, an atmosphere of optimism and better faculty-student communications was prevalent at Maine South this year.

faculty members find the extra-curricular

Although it sometimes appeared that members of the Maine South faculty did nothing but prepare impossible exams and grade papers, these educators participated in a number of extra-curricular activities. Several teachers sponsored clubs or helped in the production of drama events or publications; others chaperoned at special events. Sports-minded faculty members were able to participate in a golf and tennis tournament, while gourmets enjoyed a fall picnic and departmental banquets. The maternal and paternal employees helped their children celebrate the holidays by attending the annual Christmas party. With all these activities to participate in, it was hard to imagine that teachers had time for their "homework."

SERVICES

secretaries help keep school, community informed

Maine South's secretarial staff proved invaluable to both the faculty and students. While keeping track of all reading materials, library secretaries and para-pros managed to maintain the necessary quiet and order. The departmental employees were expected to see that all records of extra-curricular events were correct and up to date. Personnel Office secretaries, on the other hand, had the major task of maintaining an accurate account of student transcripts for all prospective colleges and employers. Just down the hall, workers in the Main Office managed administrative communication, and members of the Adult Evening School staff provided invaluable service to anyone who wished to further his education. Undoubtedly, South's secretaries were a major asset to communication between the school and the community.

members of the maintenance staff preserve order

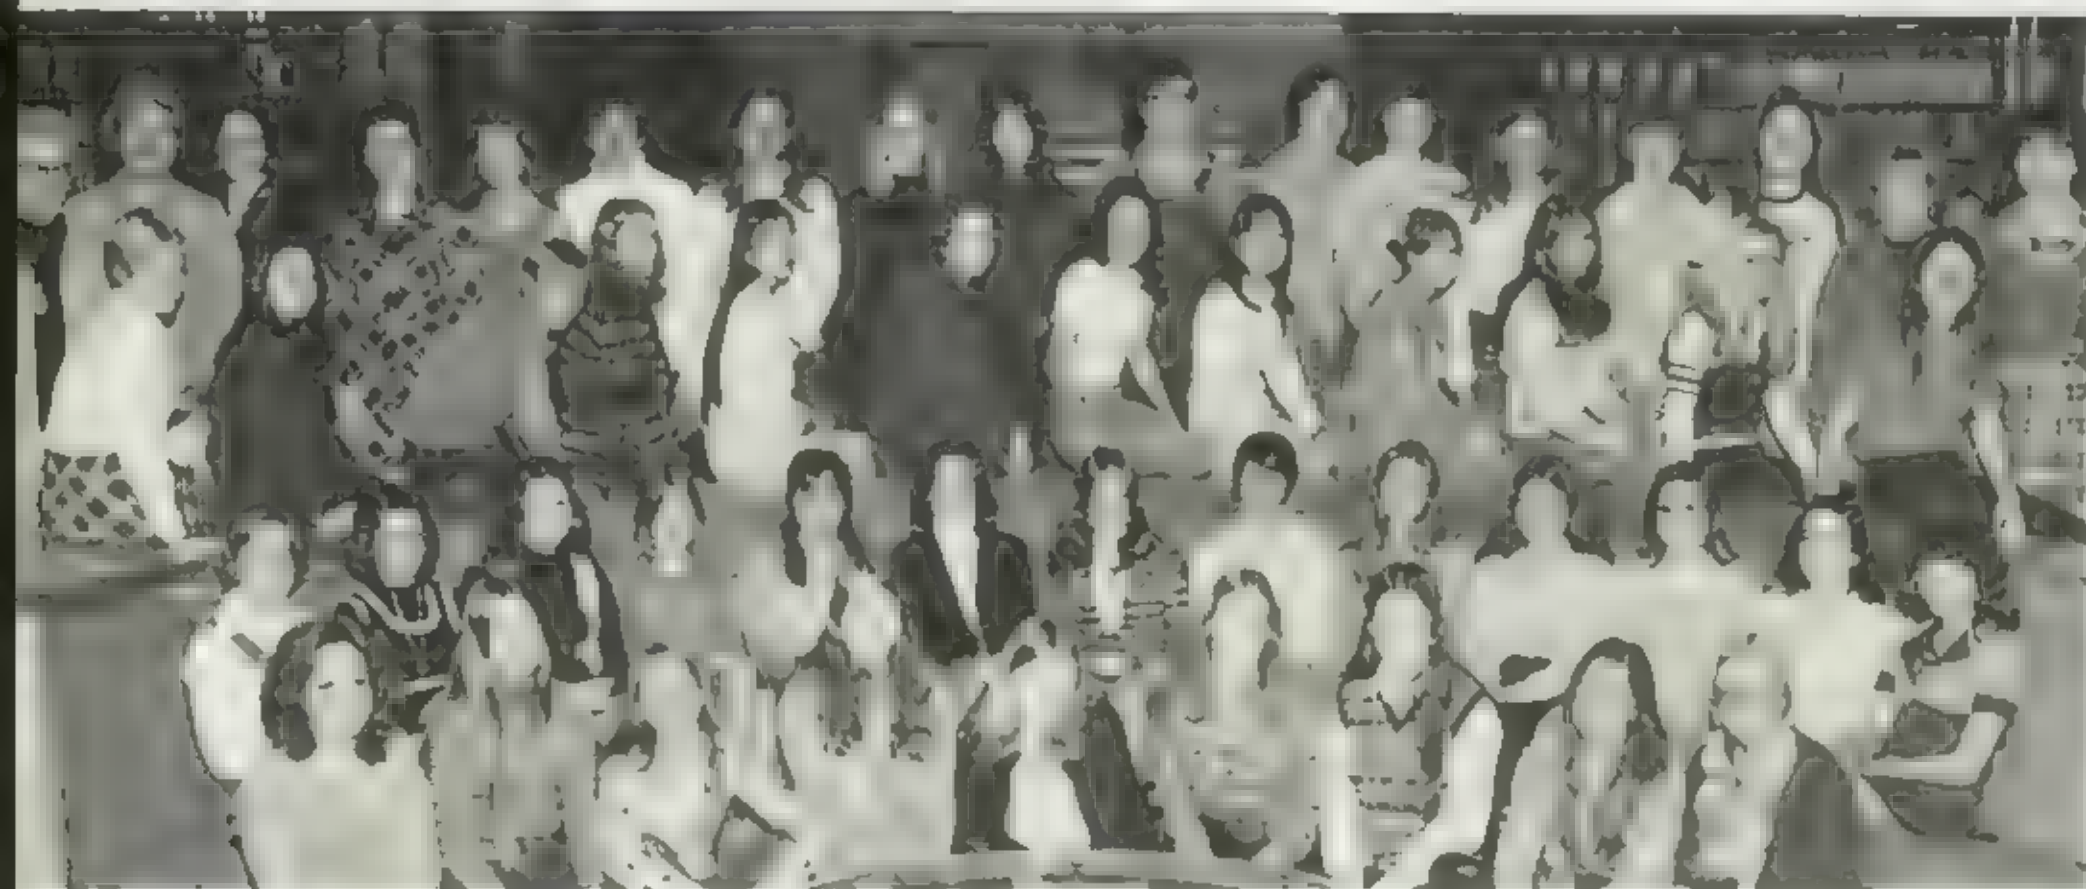

The maintenance staff here at Maine South has kept the building running smoothly during the 74-75 school year. Officer Drever, who remained on the campus throughout the day, successfully maintained order among the students walking the halls of South. Quiet existed in this year's study halls due to the para-pros. The custodians and matrons enabled Maine students to study amid a clean atmosphere. The food, processed and sold through the kitchens of South, was the work of cafeteria employees. Thanks to these people, students were not affected by many of the problems.

student helpers donate free time to aid the faculty

During the past year, students saved the faculty much valuable time. Thanks to the audio-visual staff, equipment was always at the right place at the right time. Amid a clerical atmosphere, the Deans' Office and library aids checked and filled materials. Nurses' aids, on the other hand, signed in the sick and injured pupils at South. Thus giving up their free time. Maine South students demonstrated the importance of helping others.

greatly appreciated

Many students volunteered their time to keep things at Maine South running smoothly. The Main Office helpers aided the secretaries in organizing records and running errands. Right next door, bookstore aids sold everything from notebook paper to required reading material. During study periods, volunteers in the attendance office took phone calls and helped by checking fellow students in and out of Maine South. After school was out, the lighting staff worked hard to make sure the stage was correctly illuminated at all the concerts, shows, and major school events. At the same time, parking lot monitors were outside directing traffic and continuing to show the importance of student volunteers to their peers, faculty and South's visitors.

freshmen make their first homecoming a success

With a first-place float, "Tip Toe Through the Trojans With Me," the Freshmen started off the year on the right foot. Thanks to their sponsors, members of Freshman Class Council learned the processes of student government. This knowledge was necessary to correctly run the weekly meetings, plan their class party, and make plans for future years at South.

Members of the Class '78 also participated in various sports and clubs. The Freshman football team finished with a 2-4 and 1 season, and their basketball and soccer teams showed promise. Above all, participation in everything from language clubs to drama productions increased the excitement of the freshmen's first year.

sophomores show signs of better things to come

The Sophomore class participated actively throughout their second year at Maine South. The Class of '77 displayed their zest through strong support of South's various activities. Sophomore involvement in student and class council proved an asset to the school's functions. In sports, the underclassmen ended their football season with a fine "no loss" record. Further expressing their enthusiasm, the sophomores built a third-place float entitled "Somewhere Over the Rainbow." Also, a class party at the end of a successful year fittingly displayed that the next year's juniors will keep South on top.

the junior prom proves to be an exciting evening

During the 74-75 school year, the juniors strived to achieve the status of previous upperclassmen. Thanks to the earnest support of council representatives, the plans for their second place float, "I Got You Babe" were successfully carried out. A Soc Hop and Girls' Choice Dance sponsored by Junior class attracted members from all grades. Nevertheless, their most successful project, Junior Prom, was an appropriate conclusion to the year.

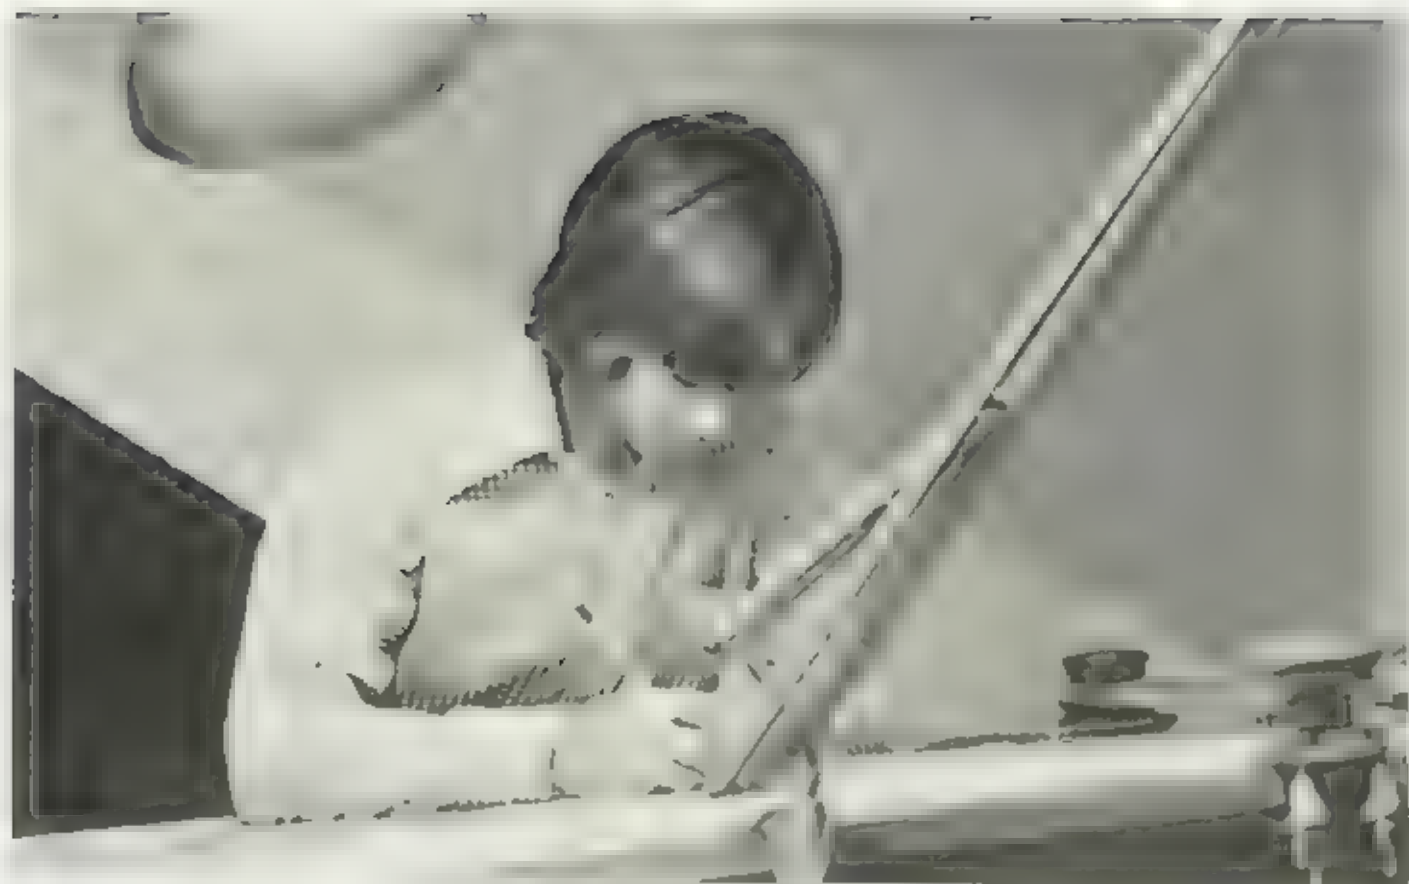

In preparation for college, the juniors visited many schools which interested them. ACT, SAT and PSAT tests were taken by the majority of the Class of '76. Clearly, the juniors were well prepared for a fulfilled senior year at South. More importantly, they were ready for the challenges of college.

seniors continue to show dedication and spirit

During their last year at Maine South, the senior class was kept very busy. The first project was Homecoming. Their float, Bye, Bye Trojan Pie, did not win a prize, but everyone had fun building it. Also, the traditional Homecoming Dance was sponsored by the seniors. They were busy planning two sock hops throughout the year. A major event that all students looked forward to was the Girl's Choice Dance which took place in March. In between the planning of these activities, the seniors were also busy taking entrance exams, choosing colleges and jobs. Soon the prom and graduation brought an end to the high school years of the many Maine South seniors.

The 1975 Eyrie staff would like to take our hats off to the following people who helped to make this year's Eyrie possible: Administrators, faculty members, and students of Maine South, including members of Southwords who helped us sell yearbooks and who contributed candid photos to this year's Eyrie. A special thanks to Root Studio for their pictures and to the Inter-Collegiate Press for their help and direction.

IN MEMORIAM

In July Maine South lost one of its most dedicated teachers, but, worse than this, the teachers and students lost one of their best friends — Mr. Hal Chastain. In his position as Speech and Drama Department Head and as teacher, Mr. Chastain talked to students honestly and openly. Mr. Chastain aimed for perfection, and he expected his students and co-workers to do the same; however, he realized that it could not always be attained and respected the person for trying. It was this side of Mr. Chastain's personality combined with his sincere kindness, interest, and enthusiasm which gave the Maine South Drama Department its exceptional reputation. This year the Hal Chastain Memorial Scholarship Fund was set up as an indication that although the man is gone, his ideals will live on.
